J. Benedict Abell

A special from Uniontown recently contained the following account of the death of a former Marion County citizen:

Another of Uniontown's group of octogenarians and most highly respected elderly citizens has joined his Father during the past week in person, Mr. J. Benedict Abell, who died Friday morning at 8:30 of pneumonia. The deceased would shortly have celebrated his 81st birthday. He was a veteran of the Union Army of the late unpleasantness between the states. He was a man of splendid qualities that endeared him to a large circle of friends.

Mr. Abell came to this county from Marion County, Ky., where he was born and reared. The Abell family, as is well-known, have furnished various portions of the country distinguished clergymen, orators and statesmen as well as innumerable sturdy opponents of the citizenship of the respective communities, the noted Father Robert Abell being a near relative of the deceased. The deceased married Miss Mollie Lynard, of Louisville, some forty-five years ago to whom have been born six children, four of whom are living, Mrs. Lacost

Death comes to J.C. Abell - County Farmer, 47, Expires At Hospital Wednesday Following Operation.

Funeral services will be conducted this morning at 9 o'clock at the Holy Name of Mary Church at Calvary for J. C. Abell, 47-year-old farmer of the Pope's Creek section of the county, who died Wednesday morning at 1:10 o'clock at the Mary Immaculate Infirmary. His passing was attributed to peritonitis which developed following an appendectomy to which he submitted ten days previously.

He suffered an attack of appendicitis recently and consulted doctors in Louisville about his condition. Examination there indicated that his appendix had ruptured and although he was advised to undergo the surgery immediately, he returned to Lebanon, believing that the delay would not have ill effects. Since the operation he had declined steadily and for several days prior to his death hope for his recovery was truly abandoned.

A native of this county, Mr. Abell was a son of Sam C. and Ida Spalding Abell, both deceased, and was born on February 16, 1901. He spent much of his life in the Calvary vicinity where he engaged successfully in farming and where he was widely known. A faithful member of the Catholic Church, he was a man of high principle, and was a devoted husband and father.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Miss Donna Whitehouse, and five children, Joan, 12; Sam C., 9; Aileen, 6; Carrol, 4; and Imelda Sue Abell, 13 months. Also surviving is one sister, Mrs. Oscar Herron of Bradfordsville.

The remains were taken to the Bosley Funeral Home and were later removed to the family residence. Requiem mass this morning will be intoned by the Rev. C. L. Smith. Burial will follow in the Holy Name of Mary Cemetery.

DR. IRVIN ABELL'S SON KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Rogers Abell, the sixteen-year-old son of Dr. Irvin Abell, noted Louisville surgeon and former resident on this city, was killed almost instantly in an automobile accident on the Shelbyville road near Louisville at 7 o'clock Wednesday night. The youth with some of his young friends was en route to Shelbyville to attend a social affair, and was driving a new roadster that had been given him by his mother only a few days before for a birthday present. The car went off the road when the boy attempted to pass another machine. Those in the machine with him were hurt but their injuries are not serious.

Dr. Abell, the young man's father, was born and reared in Lebanon and made his home here until he moved to Louisville to begin the practice of his profession. His many friends here, and they include everybody who knows him, extend to him and Mrs. Abell deepest sympathy in their sorrow.

Besides his parents, young Abell is survived by three brothers.

LONG ILLNESS PROVES FATAL – Mrs. Joe Ben Abell Succumbs At Home South of Town Sunday Afternoon

Mrs. Sarah Martha Abell, wife of Joe Ben Abell, passed away Sunday afternoon about 5:00 o'clock at her home five miles South of town on the Arbuckle Pike. Death was due to complications. Though she had been in failing health for two years, her condition did not become alarming until about six weeks ago, at which time she was brought to Elizabeth's Hospital for treatment. Later she seemed to improve and was able to return to her home. Last week she again became worse and rapidly declined until the end came.

A daughter of the late Rodman and Isabella Clements Ewing, Mrs. Abell was a native of this county, having been born in the Bradfordsville Pike vicinity three miles from Lebanon on January 1, 1873. With the exception of a number of years which she spent in Illinois during her early married life, all of her life had been spent in this county, where she was well known and had many friends. She was twice married, her first husband being Edgar Thurman, whose death occurred about twenty years ago. Her marriage to Mr. Abell took place in this city April 7, 1930, with the Rev. J.A. Hogarty performing the ceremony. She was a good Christian woman and a devout member of the Catholic Church.

Surviving Mrs. Abell, other than her husband, are one sister, Mrs. Theresa Clements who resides on the Bradfordsville Pike, and one half-sister, Mrs. Leo Thomas of this city.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 9:00 o'clock at Holy Mary's Church at Calvary, a priest from St. Mary's College officiating. Interment was in Holy Mary's Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: M.J. Bland, Clifton Bradshaw, Leo Thomas, Mills Hayden, Jodie Luckett and Bernard Clements.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ED ABELL – End Is Due To Complications That Develop Following An Operation – SERVICES THIS MORNING

Mrs. Susan Emma Abell, 48 years old, wife of R. Ed Abell, passed away shortly before 9 o'clock Wednesday night at Boldrick's Infirmary. She submitted to an operation for appendicitis at the hospital last Thursday morning and was recovering nicely until Monday night when she suffered a heart attack. Since that time she gradually grew weaker until the end came. News of her death was received with much sorrow by everyone who knew her.

Mrs. Abell was a daughter of Jane Florine Spalding and James Newton Robinson, both deceased, and was born in the Calvary community of this county on Christmas Day in 1882. She lived in that section until her marriage to Mr. Abell which took place January 7, 1903. After her marriage she came to Lebanon with her husband and had since resided here.

Mrs. Abell was a consistent member of the Catholic church and her life had been in accord with her Christian ideals and faith. She was a devoted wife and mother and possessed a bright, cheerful disposition that won for her the love and admiration of all who knew her.

Surviving her besides her husband are nine daughters, as follows: Odele, Justine, Ed Marie, Theresa, Cora Kennedy, Ann, Jane and Emma Jean Abell, all of this city, and Mrs. Joe Pettus of Stanford. One son, Richard Lawrence Abell, died in August 1920. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. B.B. Luckett of Louisville and Mrs. Shelby Spalding of this county and one brother, Spalding Robinson of this county.

Funeral services will take place this morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Augustine's church and will be conducted by Rev. J.A. Hogarty. Interment will be in St. Augustine's cemetery.

Well Known Farmer Is Victim Of Heart Attack – DIES SUDDENLY IN RESTAURANT – Spalding Abell, 39 Years Old, Stricken While Talking To Friends – FUNERAL THIS MORNING

Spalding Abell, 39 years old, who lives on the Arbuckle pike a few miles south of town, died suddenly in Mattingly's Restaurant, on Main street opposite the Vaughan Hotel, where he went with several friends to lunch Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock. He had given his order and was sitting on a stool at the counter conversing with friends while waiting for the meal to be served. Suddenly, he leaned forward on the counter placing his hands to his head, and when asked if he were sick made no reply. When it was realized that he was ill Drs. John T. Boldrick, J.R. Wilber and B.J. Baute were summoned, but Mr. Abell was dead when they arrived. Death was due to a heart attack, it was announced. Mr. Abell was accompanied to the restaurant by Abell Lee, his son, Joe Lee; Alvin Bradshaw and Dallas Mattingly.

Mr. Abell was seemingly in his usual good health prior to suffering the attack. He made no complaint of feeling ill to his friends and they did not know he had been stricken when he was seen to quietly place his hands to his head and lean forward on the counter.

Mr. Abell was a son of Joe Ben and Elizabeth Abell Abell, the latter being an Abell before she married. He was born and reared in the Calvary neighborhood where all of his life was spent. He was well known, and the news of his death came as a shock to relatives and friends. Surviving him are his wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Bradshaw, to whom he was married eighteen years ago, and seven children. They are Frances, Henson, Mary Elizabeth, Mary Rita, Elsworth, Clairborn, and Mary Jane Abell. Another child, a little daughter, was killed five years ago when an auto being backed out of a garage struck her.

T. Will Abell, aged 78, died at his home on North Spalding Avenue about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Death was due to complications after an illness of about a year. Mr. Abell was born in Marion County May 9th, 1881, the son of Edward Abell and Anna Mary Abell, both deceased. He was married to Mary Theresa Wathen May 7th, 1908, who died in 1943.

For many years Mr. Abell ran a cigar factory in Lebanon, later becoming connected with the Lebanon Water Company. He also operated a Quart House, a liquor dispensary, and was associated with the Lebanon Liquor Company when the prohibition law passed. After Prohibition he reopened a dispensary and operated it until he retired in 1951.

He is survived by three daughters: Mrs. James Noe and Mrs. Thomas Sheehan, both of Springfield; Mrs. Lambert Osborne, of Lebanon, and five sons, Richard of Balboa, Panama; T. Will, Jr., of Louisville; Edwin and Irvin, of Lebanon, and Johnnie, of Cincinnati; one brother, Marion Abell, of Lebanon, and 35 grandchildren.

The remains were removed from the Pruitt-Hickey Funeral Home to the residence where the Rosary was said at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A solemn Requiem High Mass was sung at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Augustine Church and burial was in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were William Spalding, J. Louis Abell, W. W. Durham, Harry B. Thompson, Nicholas Smith and Carl Spalding.

W. LOSH ABELL DIES SUDDENLY – Is Found Dead In Bed When Sister Goes To Awaken Him Wednesday – LIFE WAS SPENT HERE

William Aloysius Abell, 73 years old, one of the best known and best liked citizens of Lebanon, was found dead in bed at his home on Walnut street about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning by his sister, Miss Mag Abell, when she went to his room to awaken him. About two hours earlier his brother, Jack Abell, had entered his room with the intention of calling him to breakfast, but upon finding him asleep did not arouse him. Miss Abell said she heard her brother moving about in his room about two o'clock that morning but had not given the matter serious regard.

Mr. Abell had not been feeling well for several days prior to his death, but was down in town on Tuesday and spent several hours at his blacksmith shop which he had long operated on Proctor Knott avenue. He had not considered the condition of his health with any apprehension. His many friends were shocked to hear of his passing.

Mr. Abell was born in this county on December 31, 1858, a son of the late R.W. and Susan Spalding Abell, and had spent all of his life in Marion county. Early in life he went into the blacksmith business and had continued in that line of work ever since. He was a loyal member of the Catholic church and a citizen of sterling worth.

He was never married and had made his home with his sister and brother, who with another sister, Mrs. William Mowry, of Louisville, survive him. A sister, Miss Mary Abell, died several years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Augustine's Catholic church by the Rev. J.A. Hogarty and burial will follow in St. Augustine's cemetery. The pallbearers will be Eugene Lancaster, S.A. Noe, Frank R. Abell, F.N. Hughes, John A. Wathen and Johnson Hill.

Pauline Adams, longtime teacher, dies Thursday

She had a remarkable memory, said Pat Burdette, recalling how she “quickly rattled off all our names” when a group of her former students once visited her home to sing Christmas carols. And at least a decade had passed since she had taught the carolers algebra or geometry.

Pauline Ann Adams, a school teacher in Marion County from 1930 to 1978, died Thursday, Feb. 20, 1997, at 4 a.m. in Spring View Nursing Home in Lebanon. She was 84.

The daughter of the late Joseph Ernest Adams and the late Rosa Ann Adams, Pauline Adams was educated at Pleasant Run School and Lebanon High School, where she returned to teach.

She earned her teaching degree at Western Kentucky Teachers College in Bowling Green.

Her first teaching assignment in 1930 was Pleasant Run School where she taught grades one through eight for 11 years.

Miss Adams transferred to Lebanon High School at the start of the 1943-1944 school year and taught math and science there until LHS closed in 1970. Then she taught in the same building at Lebanon Junior High until her retirement in the spring of 1978.

“Miss Adams was always super pleasant,” said Burdette, a pallbearer at her funeral. “She genuinely enjoyed every student she taught.”

While she was friendly and always smiling in class, she was also a disciplinarian, said Burdette.

Marion County and Related Obituaries

"Kids, who normally acted terrible and talked back to teachers, didn't in Miss Adams' class," he said.

Charles Tharp, a teacher at Marion County High, was taught algebra II by Miss Adams, and later taught with her at Lebanon Junior High.

"She was a teacher who would not let you fail," said Tharp, an honorary pallbearer. "She really cared about each student as a person. She wanted her students to feel good about themselves. She wanted them to be the best persons they could be. She wanted them to be successful."

Miss Adams never forgot her former students, Tharp said.

"She was an excellent teacher, and an outstanding person all around," said Norma Jean Reynolds, a second cousin and close friend, who visited her daily at the nursing home. "You don't find very many like her." She taught Norma Jean at Pleasant Run School.

She had been a resident of Spring View Nursing Home the last four years, "and I never heard her complain," Reynolds said. "She loved to read and study her Bible. She read a lot of other books, too. She appreciated the bookmobile service."

Besides her parents, Pauline Adams was preceded in death by her sister, Edith Adams Hamilton, and a nephew, Robert William Hamilton.

Survivors include two nieces, Veta Hawks of Brownsville, and Zona Hogan of Kotzevue, Alaska; one nephew, Robert William Hamilton Jr. of Fairbanks, Alaska; two great-nieces; three great-nephews and several cousins.

The funeral service was Sunday, Feb., 23, at 2 p.m. in Grace Baptist Church in Lebanon. The Rev. Clelland Hays and the Rev. Lloyd Turner officiated. Burial was in Bethlehem Cemetery in Washington County.

Active pallbearers were Pat Burdette, Neil Myers, Mike Myers, Steven Myers, Merle Begley and Terry Reynolds.

Raywick man killed in car crash

Marion County's fourth highway fatality of 1997 occurred Saturday night at 8:38.

Gary Wayne Allen, 47, of Charlie Allen Road, Raywick, was pronounced dead at the scene by Marion County Coroner Junie Mattingly. He died instantly of massive head injuries, Mattingly said.

The one-car crash happened on Ky. 84, one-and-four-tenths miles east of Raywick.

Allen, who was driving a 1984 Oldsmobile and not wearing a seat belt, was thrown out of the car, Kentucky State Police said.

He was traveling west when the car ran off the road. He overcorrected and the car hit an embankment and overturned, state police said.

A Marion County native, Allen was born on April 14, 1950.

Chamber Outstanding Citizen Dies

James Ray Allen, 64, died at his home on Linda Avenue Tuesday, Oct. 22, after an illness. A lifelong resident of Marion County, Allen was honored as Outstanding Citizen in January by the Lebanon-Marion County Chamber of Commerce, primarily for his work with the Marion County Association for the Handicapped.

Allen, who joined the association more than 20 years ago, had served as the group's president for several years. Although he had retired as an officer, he continued his active involvement in the workshop and group home for mentally handicapped adults.

"If James Ray wasn't involved, this place probably wouldn't be here," said Bobby Clements, president of the association, who had worked with Allen at Louisville's General Electric plant, where Allen worked from 1956 until his retirement in 1987.

Clements also noted that Allen was involved for many years in Boy Scout activities.

"After the workshop was built, he asked what would happen to the clients when their parents were gone. He got it in his head to build a group home; if it hadn't been for James Ray's being persistent, this place wouldn't be here. I can't make the footsteps James ray did; he left too deep ruts."

When the group home was completed, association members honored Allen by naming the new facility for him.

"He did it from his heart," his wife, Edna Mae, said. "He didn't want recognition."

"He was a quiet, soft-spoken man, but when he talked, people listened," said Clements.

His daughter Debbie Spalding, teacher at Marion County High School, made the surprise presentation naming her father as Citizen of the Year. This week, she reflected on his religious faith. "Even up to the time he died, he taught me about faith, the love of the Lord, and the love of other people. As a parent now, I look back at how he taught me it was OK to mess up; just get back in there and keep going. He accepted my mistakes and we went on. He never judged people for their mistakes"

Funeral services were conducted Friday, Oct. 25, at the First Christian Church. A complete obituary is included on page A14 of this issue.
