Fiscal Court.

Pursuant to notice entered last week, the Fiscal court convened Tuesday morning, Judge Burton presiding and all the magistrates being present.

In regard to improving that part of the Chicago and New Hope road which is in Marion county, came W. W. Dant and Henry Mattingly and represented to the court that people living along the Chicago and New Hope county road had subscribed and would subscribe not less than four hundred dollars to assist in macadamizing this road, and requested the court to make an additional appropriation to assist in defraying the expenses of macadamizing the said road. It was ordered by the court that the sum of $700 be appropriated for this purpose. The work to be done under the supervision of Messrs. Mattingly and Dant and the county money paid at such times and in such amounts as the county judge may deem advisable.

The court also ordered that the county purchase from the Chicago Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, Ky., a lot of culvert

Shot In Shoulder.

Considerable excitement was created at the L. & N. depot Monday evening just as the Greensburg train pulled in by a shooting scrape in which John Hardesty, Jr., was painfully wounded, by being shot, and Virgil Bobbitt received a blow in the head which caused him to be laid up since. As far as we are able to learn the trouble started before the train arrived, between John and Ham Hardesty on one side, and J. D. Bobbitt and his son Virgil, on the other. The two parties are competitors in the hotel business and had met at the depot, as is the custom to solicit from incoming passengers. Agents for the hotels are forbidden to solicit beyond a certain line at the depot and there has always been considerable rivalry and naturally some feeling between the solicitors. It was on this line that the trouble started. It is said that during the trouble Virgil Bobbitt was knocked to the ground and afterwards went to his hotel, a few feet away, and secured his revolver. On his return he met John and Ham Hardesty just this side of the railroad and it was here the shooting began. John Hardesty was shot once in the shoulder and another shot injured a finger and grazed his cheek. Notwithstanding his wounds, he and Ham closed on Bobbitt and wrenched the pistol from his hands. Bystanders had gathered by this time and the belligerents were separated and taken to their respective hotels and given medical attention. The shooting caused pandemonium to reign at the station and the large crowd which nightly assembles there made a hasty exit for places of safety. It was a dangerous place for a shooting and it is remarkable that no one else was injured. The wounded men are not dangerously hurt, although it is not likely they will be able to appear for examining trials which are set for today, and for which they are under bond to appear. The ball is still in John Hardesty's arm and will not be removed until he has recovered sufficiently from the shock.

Tuesday afternoon the building committee having in charge the remodeling of the Christian church awarded the contract to Mr. R.

builder, who will rush the work to completion. A new front ten feet nearer the street will be built with a forty-four foot tower; the floor
will be elevated from rear to front, new windows will be put in and the building thoroughly remodeled. The improvements will cost near $3,500. Commencing next Sunday services of this congregation will be held at the Court House until their building is completed.

The trial of Virgil Bobbitt charged with maliciously shooting
John A. Hardesty, Jr., was concluded in the Police Court Monday. After hearing the evidence and lengthy arguments by attorneys on both sides, Judge Thomas, held Mr. Bobbitt to the circuit court, under a $250 bond. The cases against J. A. Hardesty, Jr., and J. D. Bobbitt, each being charged with assault and battery were dismissed. J. D. Hardesty was held to the circuit court on the charge of assault and battery.
He was recognized on his own bond in the sum of $100.

trials. All three of the negroes are from Louisville.

The trouble occurred on a negro excursion Sunday morning, June 26. The train was bound for Richmond from Louisville, and when between Dant and Chicago several of the negroes became involved in a difficulty. Detective Dault who was on the train for the purpose of keeping order attempted to quell the disturbance, and was attacked by O. B. Bann, Montgomery and Russell, the first named drawing a pistol and firing at the detective. After the shooting the negroes ran to the platform or the coach and escaped by jumping from the rapidly moving train. They were later arrested in Louisville, and brought here where they have been in jail since.

Plunge Into Salt River.

At one o'clock last Monday morning, an automobile party consisting of Messrs. Richard Menefer, Shelby W. Bonnie, Carl Wiseman and Sam Barr, Mrs. Shelby W. The two-year old Walnut Hall filly with six weeks' handling, trotted 1 1/4 miles in 35 seconds.

Held to the Grand Jury

The trial of Virgil Bobbitt, charged with maliciously assaulting John Hardesty, was concluded in the police court Monday, and resulted in the defendant being held to answer to the next grand jury under a bond of $200 which was promptly given. The cases against Ham Hardesty, John Hardesty and J. D. Bobbitt charging assault and battery were submitted to the court on the same evidence introduced at the trial of Virgil Bobbitt. Ham Hardesty was held to the grand jury under bond of $100, while J. D. Bobbitt and John Hardesty were dismissed. All the parties are well known hotel people, and engaged in a difficulty of the hotel about three weeks ago.

Appointed for County Clerk.

In this issue of THE ENTERPRISE it was announced that J. D. Bobbitt, a ranchman, had been appointed as county clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Mr. Nesbit Passes Away.

In the death of Mr. Robert T. Nesbit, which occurred at his home in New Lebanon Sunday July 19, 1908, after a lingering illness of organic heart disease, this community has lost one of its oldest and best citizens. Funeral services were conducted at the residence Monday afternoon by Rev. A. S. Moffett, of the Second Presbyterian church, after which his remains were interred at Ryder cemetery. Past Master W. H. Purdy performing the service in a very impressive manner.

Mr. Nesbit was born in Jeffersonville, Indiana, March 1, 1831, moving to Bourbon county while quite young, to his parents' home. In 1851, he moved to Memphis, Missouri, and lived for about ten years on a farm. In the latter part of his life he quit the farm and engaged in the mercantile business at Memphis, where he met Matt Munne Knott, brother of E. C. Knott, and joined him in business on August 11, 1876. In 1880, he moved to Kansas, where he remained until he was employed by a large contractor as an overseer of teams whose duty it was to transport freight across the plains. This was an important and responsible position in those days and one which he filled with entire satisfaction. The Civil War coming along he joined the Federal army following the union flag until the cessation of hostilities. He came to Lebanon in 1867, where the remainder of his life was spent.

After the war at Lebanon, Mr. Nesbit resided in the city, the Mason railroad through Lebanon. While in the west he was at one time Assistant Indian Agent and during the life held many other responsible clerical positions. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and had been a Mason for more than fifty years. He was also a charter member of Marion commandery No. 24, Knights Templar, Lebanon.

His health began to fail three or four years before his death, but his condition was greatly aggravated by two strokes of paralysis one in May 1907, and the other in the summer of 1908. The last stroke of his life was a severe one, and he was unable to speak or move. During his illness he was very faithful and devoted to his family and friends.

Roberts.

Mr. Thomas L. Robert Cross, this city, died at Infirmary, Louisville, Ky, evening July 19, 1908, after a long illness. The deceased took about six weeks ago surgical troubles. His condition grew worse, with little hope for recovery. Thinking of an operation, he was taken to Joseph's Infirmary Sunday the operation was performed days later. His relief was temporary, death following Sunday. His remains were taken to Holy Cross Monday. Funeral services were conducted at Holy Cross Tuesday morning by Rev. A. S. Moffett, in the presence of a very large gathering of sorrowing friends. After his burial in Holy Cross cemetery, the grave of his wife who preceded him in death, was opened and the remains were placed in the same grave.

Mr. Robert was the son of Win. A. Roberts and was born in 1830. About the year 1860, he married Miss Josephine (the wife of the late Joseph Clark, of this city) but no children were born to them. After his marriage he lived on a farm for a number of years. Later he engaged in the mercantile business as a clerk in the city. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and was a very devoted and faithful member. He was a very kind and generous man, and was well known and respected in the community. He was a very successful business man, and was a member of the city council. He was a very devoted and faithful member of the Presbyterian church, and was a very kind and generous man, and was well known and respected in the community.

Frather.

Mrs. Anna Frather, wife of T. Frather, died at Fayetteville, Mo., this morning after a long illness. The deceased was 60 years of age, and was a very kind and generous woman. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, and was a very devoted and faithful member. She was a very successful business woman, and was a member of the city council. She was a very devoted and faithful member of the Presbyterian church, and was a very kind and generous woman, and was well known and respected in the community.

Weld to the Grand Jury

The United States District Court charged the defendant, appearing for the first time, with conspiracy to kidnap Monday and to enter in the defendant's name a check for the next grand jury fund of $250 which was probably given to the clerk against Frank Haines' $1000 salary and J. D. Bennett and his assistant's salaries were submitted for the first of the same defendant since the trial of Earl Roberts. The conspiracy was charged to have been entered into $100,000, and the grand jury was told that the defendant had been

For a number of years past he had been seriously concerned and had conducted the office on a strict plan, withdrawing the influence of court and public men, and making it a rule to receive no favors or favors that would bear witness to the influence of any one of the public men. He was, however, a man of great influence and was a man of great influence.

A high-contrast, black and white portrait of a man, likely a historical figure, framed by a decorative border. The image is heavily textured and appears to be a reproduction of an old photograph or engraving. The man is shown from the chest up, facing slightly to the right. He has dark hair and is wearing a dark suit jacket over a light-colored shirt and a dark tie. The background is dark and indistinct. The entire image is enclosed within a thin, double-lined rectangular border.
