Dear Mr. Aker,

Perhaps, in the next Quarterly,
you'll have room for the following query:

Put in Need names of parents and county

of birth for Lewis Edwards,
born February 17, 1774 somewhere
in Virginia (which then included Kentucky).
He died March 6, 1837 near Travel Switch.

Mr. Aker, I've looked for Lewis in Lebanon, Danville and Springfield — in Frankfort and Richmond — in Washington, D.C.
and at the NGS in Arlington — in Louisville
and in Salt Lake City at the LDS library.
He's a ghost who is costing me a fortune
I don't have.

Do you have any ideas? I know he was paying taxes in Washington County in the mid-1790's. But there's no trace of him before that. Census records list him born in Virginia — but where in Virginia? Virginia included Kentucky until 1792. He was born in 1774 — that was still colonial Virginia where the best records were parish records —
but which parish?

Help!

Sincerely,

Bob Edwards

Dear Mr. Akers,

I thank you for sending the quarterly of your publication. It is a lively and valuable resource for all of us trying to make sense of what went before us.

I have two questions — both concerning page 5 of Volume 2, Number 3, the issue from this past Spring. This is the page featuring a drawing of Sandusky's Station. Question one is simply — is there a list of Sandusky Station settlers — and, if so, how might I obtain it. The second question concerns the last line on the page — a line stating that 547 names were contained on a list of tithables in the new county — which I take to be Washington County. The question is this: Is that list available today? If so, how might I obtain a copy?

Thank you for your time and considerations.

Do you have time for quicker?
I'd like to make a few.

Best wishes for the holidays.

Bob Edwards

PS - I'm sorry that the cemetery that probably contained your ancestors was destroyed. We're so quick to destroy history for the sake of modern convenience. Your work with the historical society may help to create a new ethic in the land. Good luck!
