Lebanon lieutenant to head guard unit

By GEORGE GABEHART
Landmark News Service

January will not only usher in a new year, but it will signal a changing of the guard at the Springfield National Guard Armory, as well.

After three years at the helm, Springfield native and resident Capt. Danny Fenwick will turn over the reins as commanding officer to accept a staff officer position at the guard unit's 1st Battalion headquarters in Glasgow, Ky.

James Mack Walls, a second lieutenant from Lebanon, will assume the top post at the armory after Fenwick is reassigned.

"I could never do better than what I have here," said Fenwick as he discussed his promotion and impending departure shortly before Christmas. "I think it's an extremely good unit. There's an expertise and camaraderie out here that surpasses many, many units—guard or active."

Fenwick, 37, has been the commander of the service battery which provides support to other units in the battalion for the past three years. He has served in active duty in Vietnam and looks at the promotion to the staff office as an evolutionary step toward advancement in the guard.

With his service record, the father of three hopes his experience (See Guard, page A14) will be of value training the guard units in the battalion to be ready in case they are needed in times of military necessity.

Walls, 25, has been with the Springfield unit for about five years, including the time he spent attached to the 623rd while in college at Eastern Kentucky University. The son of Barbara Warner of Lebanon, Walls was graduated from ECU in 1987 with a degree in history after completing his secondary education at Marion County High School.

He spent one year stationed at the Monticello unit before being appointed to the top spot in Springfield by the battalion.

Although youthful, Walls has found little antagonism from the members of the unit as he prepares to assume leadership of the unit which Fenwick said has been instrumental in gaining the battalion several major national awards.

The unit "is pretty good because the men work with me well," said Walls, who hopes to build on the tradition of excellence already instilled in the unit.

In the past few years, the battalion and the unit have been recognized with the guard's highest honor, the Walter T. Kerwin Readiness Award, several unit awards and individual awards for its members, including Fenwick.

Lebanon resident James Mack Walls, left, accepts the Unit Guide Arms Barrier from outgoing commanding officer Capt. Danny Fenwick at the Springfield Armory last week. Walls will assume the top duties at the armory in January. (By George Gabehart)

The departing commander attributes the success to the motivation of the personnel in the unit and believes this quest for excellence will carry over to Walls' command in the coming years.

"I think he's got one of the more knowledgeable and best groups of men a young man could walk in and command," said Fenwick. "He's walking into one of the best units he could. He's really a lucky man to get this unit."

Walls, who knows the unit through his years of service with the men, also realizes what an excellent opportunity he has been given. He said he is ready to accept his leadership role and continue the tradition enjoyed by the unit in Springfield.

Shot In Shoulder.

Considerable excitement was created at the L. & N. depot Monday evening just as the Greensburg train pulled in by a shooting scrape in which John Hardesty, Jr., was painfully wounded, by being shot, and Virgil Bobbitt received a blow in the head which caused him to be laid up since. As far as we are able to learn the trouble started before the train arrived, between John and Ham Hardesty on one side, and J. D. Bobbitt and his son Virgil, on the other. The two parties are competitors in the hotel business and had met at the depot, as is the custom to solicit from incoming passengers. Agents for the hotels are forbidden to solicit beyond a certain line at the depot and there has always been considerable rivalry and naturally some feeling between the solicitors. It was on this line that the trouble started. It is said that during the trouble Virgil Bobbitt was knocked to the ground and afterwards went to his hotel, a few feet away, and secured his revolver. On his return he met John and Ham Hardesty just this side of the railroad and it was here the shooting began. John Hardesty was shot once in the shoulder and another shot injured a finger and grazed his cheek. Notwithstanding his wounds, he and Ham closed on Bobbitt and wrenched the pistol from his hands. Bystanders had gathered by this time and the beligerents were separated and taken to their respective hotels and given medical attention. The shooting caused pandemonium to reign at the station and the large crowd which nightly assembles there made a hasty exit for places of safety. It was a dangerous place for a shooting bee and it is remarkable that no one else was injured. The wounded men are not dangerously hurt, although it is not likely they will be able to appear for examining trials which are set for to-day, and for which they are under bond to appear. The ball is still in John Hardesty's arm and will not be removed until he has recovered sufficiently from the shock.

Colts Win One Game

The game of ball at Hood's park Saturday between the first and second teams resulted in a victory for the second team by the score of 8 to 3. The teams played another game at Hood's park Wednesday the "regular" winning by the score of 13 to 7.

Trials are Postponed

The cases of the Commonwealth against Ham and John Hardesty and J. H. and Virgil Bobbett for engaging in a difficulty at the depot last week, were called at the police court Friday, and continued until July 16. The continuance was granted owing to the fact that some of the parties had not sufficiently recovered to be present in court. John Hardesty who was shot, and Virgil Bobbett who was injured about the head, are now rapidly recovering.

Sells Hardware Business

W. B. Johnston, who has been engaged in the hardware business in this city for many years past, has sold his stock of goods to Messrs. Johnston & Gaskins. The deal was made Wednesday, and the stock, which included a building for a general line of hardware, furniture, and mill supplies, was accordingly moved to the new place. The new owners, Mr. Johnston, who is a well-known merchant, and Mr. Gaskins, who is a well-known carpenter, are both well-known in the community. The new place is a large, modern building, and is well equipped with all the latest hardware and mill supplies. The new owners are confident that they will be able to serve the community better than ever before.

Colts to Play

The first and second teams of the Marion County Colts will play a game at Hood's park Saturday. The first team will be captained by John Hardesty, and the second team will be captained by Virgil Bobbett. The game is expected to be a close one, and will attract a large crowd of spectators. The Colts are a well-known team in the community, and have a strong record of victories. They are confident that they will be able to win this game, and will be looking forward to it with great interest.

The Matinee Trots

A crowd of between three and four hundred people witnessed the matinee trots at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon, and everyone felt well repaid for having attended. Had it not rained up until a short while before the races were to begin, the crowd would doubtless have been much larger. The races brought together some of the fastest horses in the county, and lovers of the sport were enthusiastic over the afternoon's exhibition. All of the heats were one-half mile, three in live. Following is a summary of the results:

Highland Boy (Richard)	1 1 1
Totenachus (Dant)	2 2 2
Time: 1:10, 1:09, 1:11.
PAGE (GREEN CLASS)

Owners of some of the fast horses in the county will leave shortly after the first of next month to capture some of the coin hung up by different trotting associations over the country. Mr. W. B. Johnston will campaign one horse at several of the Kentucky fairs, while Messrs. F. L. Dant, John B. Gandy, W. B. & Richard will try for some of the money in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Mr. Dant will take with him one of his Grady two year olds.

A New Film

A new film, "The Great Escape," will be shown at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The film is a story of a group of prisoners who escape from a German prison camp during World War II. It is a very exciting and dramatic story, and is expected to attract a large crowd of spectators. The film is shown in a new, modern building, and is well-lit and sound. It is a very good film, and is well worth seeing. It is shown at 2:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The trouble occurred on a negro excursion Sunday morning, June 26. The train was bound for Richmond from Louisville, and when between Dant and involved in a difficulty. Detective Daub who was on the train for the purpose of keeping order attempted to quell the disturbance, and was attacked by O.

Bannon, Montgomery and Russell, the first named drawing a pistol and firing

Mr. Nesbit Passes Away.

In the death of Mr. Robert T. Nesbit, which occurred at his home in New Lebanon Sunday July 19, 1908, after a lingering illness of organic heart disease, this community has lost one of its oldest and best citizens. Funeral services were conducted at the residence Monday afternoon by Rev. A. S. Moffett, of the Second Presbyterian church, after which his remains were interred at Ryder cemetery with Masonic honors, Past Master W. H. Purdy performing the service in a very impressive manner.

Mr. Nesbit was born in Jeffersonville, Indiana, March 1, 1821, moving with his parents while quite young to Bourbon county. In 1851, he moved to Memphis, Missouri, and lived for about ten years on a farm. In the latter part of this he quit the farm and engaged in the mercantile business at Memphis, where he met Miss Mammie Knott, sister of E. C. Overton, J. Proctor Knott to whom he was united in marriage on August 11, 1856. In 1859, he moved to Kansas, where for several years he was employed by a large contractor as an overseer of teams whose duty it was to transport freight across the plains. This was an important and responsible position in those days and one which he filled with entire satisfaction. The Civil War coming along he joined the Federal army following the union flag until the cessation of hostilities. He came to Lebanon, 1867, where the remainder of his life was spent.

At the onset of trouble, Mr. Nesbit resided near Leavenworth, Mo., on a railroad through Indiana. While in the west he was at one time Assistant Indian Agent and during the life held many other responsible clerical positions. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and had been a Mason for more than fifty years. He was also a charter member of Marion Commandery No. 24 Knights Templar, Lebanon.

His health began to fail ten or eight years before his death, but his condition was greatly aggravated by two recent injuries, one in May 1904, the other in the autumn of 1906. The last four years of his life was spent in a severe suffering which he bore with patience, never complaining. During all these years he was faithful and devoted to his family and to his community at large. He is survived by one son, Robert T. Nesbit, who is now residing in this city.

Mr. Thomas L. Roberts.

Mr. Thomas L. Roberts, Cross, this city, died at St. Mary's Infirmary, Louisville, Ky., evening July 19, 1908, after a long illness. The deceased took about six years ago suffering from gall stones and other complications. His condition grew worse, with little hope for recovery. Thinking an operation bringing him relief, he was taken to Joseph's Infirmary Sunday. The operation was performed a few days later. His relief was temporary, death following Sunday. His remains were taken to Holy Cross cemetery Tuesday morning by Rev. A. S. Moffett, in the presence of a very large gathering of sorrowing friends and relatives, after which his burial in Holy Cross cemetery, near the grave of his wife who preceded him by eighteen days.

Mr. Roberts was the son of Win. A. Roberts and was born about the year 1860. He married Miss Josephine Clark of the late Clark, of Ky., but no children were born to him. After his marriage, he lived on a farm for a number of years, and later entered the political arena as a candidate for the office of sheriff. He was appointed sheriff of this county in 1904, and served in that position until the time of his death. He was an earnest, hard worker, and scarcely ever undertook a task which he did not carry to a successful conclusion. His community here was full of good wishes and his death was felt keenly by a long list of friends. He is survived by one son, Charles L. Roberts, of Washington, and one half brother, Robert A. Roberts, of this city.

Brother.

Mrs. Anna Prather, wife of J. Prather, died at Fayetteville, Mo., this morning after a long illness. The deceased was 60 years of age, and was the wife of a well-known merchant. She was a member of the Methodist church and was a devoted wife and mother. She is survived by one son, J. Prather, who is now residing in this city, and one daughter, Mrs. J. Prather, who is now residing in this city.

known man in the county than Mr. Carter, and few, if any, have more warm friends. For a number of years past he has been county court clerk, and has conducted the office on a high plane, discharging the duties in a courteous and businesslike manner. It is unnecessary to state that one so elected county judge he will discharge the duties of the same in a highly acceptable manner. He has discharged the duties of county clerk.

He was in the process of cutting a limb from a large tree when he fell. The fall was from a height of about 20 feet. He was injured in the right arm, which was broken.
