Oldest citizen in this end

Mr. John Ray, one of the oldest citizens in this end of the county, died on the 11st inst., and his remains were interred next day at St. Matthew Church, making the second interment at that place. He was eighty-odd years old and was extensively connected. He bore a good name and died at peace with his fellow man.

Richard Scott sold farm

Mr. Richard Scott, of Scott's Ridge, has sold his farm, "The old George Scott place" to Mr. John Thompson, for $1,200.

It contains some 300 acres, a great portion of which is covered by as fine oak and popular timber as nods to the breezes of this latitude.

Becomes land owner

Judge J.M. Malone has also become a real estate owner in the purchase of the Isadore Bickett farm from "Uncle" Time Downs. The trade was closed last week at the price of $1,600, $1,000 of which is to be paid now and the remaining $600 in two years from date without interest. This farm contains 196 acres, and is two miles from where I write, on the portion of the Raywick and Lebanon road.

Thompson moved

James A. Thompson has moved to the Dr. Cardwell farm, which he bought some time ago, and Richard Carrio has moved to Mrs. Julia Thompson's farm.

To be married

Mr. Christopher Boone and Miss Annie McIntire, daughter of Judge McIntire, of Washington County, will be married next Thursday. Also Mr. Hamilton, Jr., and Miss Pernelia Medley, of Washington, will marry this week. Hurry up, boys. Lent from a skylight. Two other alarms were turned in about the same time by Joe Blair, who lives in the Knights of Columbus house, and by a guest at the Hardesty Hotel, across the street.

Grinstead's loss includes about $8,000 worth of dressed poultry in the refrigerators, 10,000 live chickens, and around $1,5000 worth of feathers, in addition to the building it occupied and the one occupied by the grocery. S.H. Grinstead is president of the firm, the stock of which is owned by Joe E. Graham, J.M., Z.T. and Miss Alice Millen, Charles, Hal and J.W. Durham and E.N. Hobson. Mr. Powell's loss is between $6,000 and $7,000. Grinstead has opened temporary quarters in the Dr. J.M. Sea building in the same block, and Collins has moved to a room under the opera house.

Open insurance firm

B.J. Madden, who recently was discharged from the military service, and John E. Newton have formed a partnership and will engage in the insurance business.

County agent retained

J.E. Summers, county agent here for the past six years, last Friday night was re-employed for another three-year period by the Marion County Fiscal Court. The court voted an appropriation of $700 as salary and $600 for office and travel expense. A similar amount will be provided by the federal government. A number of farmers went before the court to ask that the agent be retained.

Wins spelling crown

Locker plant in use

Locker boxes for use in Lebanon's new frozen locker plant have arrived and are being installed. Refrigeration machinery has been in operation nearly two weeks and already several thousand pounds of meat have been brought in by subscribers, according to manager Ray Bowman. Of the 413 individual locker units, practically all have been rented. Meat is being stored temporarily in a chill room until the locker boxes are ready.

Cops spelling title

Billy James Wilson, 12-year-old eighth-grader at Bradfordsville School, a son of Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Wilson, was winner of the annual Marion County spelling bee held last Friday at the Court House. He defeated 17 competitors, finally downing the runner-up, Mary Jane Abell, 13, of Calvary School, who stumbled on the word "opinion."

Minister resigns

The Rev. Olof Anderson, Jr., pastor of Lebanon United Presbyterian Church since April, 1936, has notified the church that he will submit his resignation Sunday in order to accept a call to the pastorate of First Presbyterian Church, Richmond.

Little opposition to tax

Only token opposition to the proposed utility gross receipts tax was voiced at a public hearing held last Thursday afternoon at the Marion County Board of Education offices in Lebanon.

Although several of those attending the meeting opposed this means of taxation to help finance the new central high school in Marion County an equal number said they thought the utility tax was the fairest means of gaining the necessary revenue.

Loretto to receive grant

The City of Loretto will receive a $6,300 Federal grant for the construction of a recreational park there, it was learned this week.

The grant will enable the
