

Raywick and Lebanon road.

Thompson moved

James A. Thompson has moved to the Dr. Cardwell farm, which he bought some time ago, and Richard Carrico has moved to Mrs. Julia Thompson's farm.

To be married

Mr. Christopher Boone and Miss Annie McIntire, daughter of Judge McIntire, of Washington County, will be married next Thursday. Also Mr. Hamilton, Jr., and Miss Permelia Medley, of Washington, will marry this week. Hurry up, boys. Lent will be on you before you know it.

Dr. Wright buys farm

Dr. Wright bought the farm at E.G. Vancleave's sale for $2,200. He sold it to Mr. Vancleave for $3,500. This is another instance of the decline in real estate. It used to be the case that a man could better afford to go in debt for land than anything, least of all for land, owing to the extremely low prices of the products of the soil.

Local-pencilings

Mrs. W.H. Hite fell upon the ice and hurt one of her wrists very severely... W.C. Woods, Esq., Deputy Clerk of the Marion Circuit Court, slipped and fell on an icy sidewalk, near the Court-house, Saturday evening, striking upon his chin and dislocating his jaw. He has been confined to his room since the accident, but is doing well.

90 years ago

January 24, 1919

Poultry plant burns

Fire, which originated on either the second floor of the grocery store of J.L. Powell at Main and Depot streets or the second floor of the large milk-feeding and poultry packing plant of S.H. Grinstead Company adjoining, completely destroyed the grocery and the big Grinstead plant and badly damaged the field-seed and implement store of L.A. Collins about 4 a.m. Tuesday, for an aggregate loss of approximately $75,000.

J.E. Summers, county agent here for the past six years, last Friday night was re-employed for another three-year period by the Marion County Fiscal Court. The court voted an appropriation of $700 as salary and $600 for office and travel expense. A similar amount will be provided by the federal government. A number of farmers went before the court to ask that the agent be retained.

Wins spelling crown

Dorothy Cowherd, 12-year-old eighth-grade pupil at Hamilton School, defeated 24 other contestants to win the county championship in the annual spelling bee held last Friday night at Lebanon High School. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cowherd. Her teacher is Miss Catherine Hill.

Wins promotion

Basil P. Cooper, who has been project officer for the Civil Works Administration in Marion County, has been made an engineer for the Fourth District and will supervise all C.W.A. projects in the 10-county area. Charles Beaven of St. Mary has been named Marion County project officer.

Polio Ball planned

Plans for the birthday ball set for January 30 at the Masonic Temple in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday, for benefit of the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, are going forward rapidly under direction of Chairman L.L. Penick. Heading the various sub-committees on arrangements are J.M. Huber, Roger Cundiff, A.H. McChord, Owen Kessler, Joseph Mattingly, D.B. Spragens and H.M. Warren.

65 years ago

January 21, 1944

McCall heads C. of C.

Logan T. McCall, local agent for the L. & N. Railroad, was elected president for the Lebanon Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. George H. Northcutt, district manager of Kentucky Utilities Company, and pharmacist

Richmond.

50 years ago

January 23, 1959

Named top young farmer

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has named Edward Hill as "Marion County's Outstanding Young Farmer of 1959."

The 33-year-old award winner owns and operates a 117-acre farm, and also operates a 248-acre farm owned by Fred Bowles. Both are located on the St. Rose Pike.

Windstorm damage

A Wednesday afternoon storm brought wind and water damage of several thousand dollars to Marion County.

Winds of near tornadic force toppled television antennas, swayed telephone and light poles and caused damage to numerous houses in Golf Terrace and along the Bradfordsville and Fairground Roads.

Board reaches no decision

No decision had been afternoon at the Marion County Board of Education offices in Lebanon.

Although several of those attending the meeting opposed this means of taxation to help finance the new central high school in Marion County an equal number said they thought the utility tax was the fairest means of gaining the necessary revenue.

Loretto to receive grant

The City of Loretto will receive a $6,300 Federal grant for the construction of a recreational park there, it was learned this week.

The grant will enable the western Marion County community to purchase 9.2 acres of land and begin grading the property in the very near future.

Thomas "Jaycee of Year"

James R. Thomas, 32-year-old Lebanon banker, was named "Lebanon's Outstanding Young Man of 1968" at a meeting of the Lebanon Jaycees last night.

Hite