

21 1939

$1.50 In State; $2.00 Outside State

BOARD ASKS TAX INCREASE

Sixty-cent Levy Is Sought To Maintain County Schools During 1939-40 Term.

NOT APPLICABLE IN CITY

Meeting in special session at the Court House Monday, the County Board of Education approved the budget as set up for the school year, 1939-1940 and adopted by unanimous vote a resolution requesting the Marion Fiscal Court to increase by ten cents on the $100 of assessed property, the tax for maintenance of the county institutions next year. Superintendent Hugh Spalding presided, and all board members were in attendance.

If the change is made, the levy will be sixty cents instead of fifty cents on the $100 valuation of all property subject to the common school tax, and will be due in October of this year. The tax does not apply to those living within the city limits of Lebanon. Here the rate is fixed by the City Council and the revenue used for the maintenance of the local public schools.

The board announced that the proposed boost will be necessary to offset additional expenditures, which are inevitable next year. First, it is cited, there has been an increase in the tuition fee which the City Board of Education charges the county for all rural pupils educated in the Lebanon Public Elementary School, effective next September; second, transporting students by bus to schools from areas where schools have been abandoned through consolidation will be more costly next season; and third, some of the hold-

DEATH CLAIMS SIX IN COUNTY

Mrs. R. L. Adams Expires At Home Here; Young Farmer Dies After Operation.

RAYWICK MAN SUCCUMBS

Death came to six well known persons residing within the county during the past week, four men and two women. They were: Mrs. R. L. Adams, George Harold Lawson, William Alfred Lamkin, John Samuel Cooper, William F. Cisseff and Mrs. Mariah Goodrum.

With the exception of Mr. Lawson, who succumbed following an emergency operation, the deceased citizens were past sixty-five years of age and in most instances had been in frail health for some time.

Mrs. R. L. Adams

Mrs. Josephine Hardy Adams, 74, widow of R. L. Adams, died unexpectedly at her home on High Street at 10:45 o'clock last Thursday evening following a brief illness of a common cold from which pneumonia developed a few hours prior to her death.

Because of the ailment, regarded as trivial, she was not as well as usual early last week, but continued with her household duties until Tuesday when she followed the suggestion of her physician that she go to bed. Although her cold was deeper, that day, her condition was not considered serious and her passing came as a profound shock to even her closest friends.

Mrs. Adams was born in Centralia, Mo., on December 28, 1864; a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Mason Hardy. When a child

(Continued on page 2, column 1)

MITS HOME

ets Fire To ence To report

at the home parents, Mr. n, had never since their year-old St.
lited that he which totally n two-story be and his old occupied hurch. No
Mrs. Whit niture, also wed arsonal ment of his one time at

The Lebanon Enterprise

(Established 1886)

Published Every Friday Morning

Oliver Kelly.....Editor and Publisher
H. M. Warren.....Associate Publisher

Entered at the Lebanon, Ky., post-office as second-class matter.

Member Kentucky Press Association

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Enterprise will be gladly corrected if it is called to the attention of the publishers.

Advertising rates furnished on application. Obituaries, resolutions of respect and cards of thanks, 5c per line payable in advance.

Subscription Rates In Kentucky

One year.....$1.50
Six months......75
Three months......50

Outside Kentucky

One year.....$2.00
Six months.....1.00
Three months......75

LEBANON, KY., MARCH 24, 1939

Death Claims Six In County.

(Continued from first page)

she moved with her parents to Lebanon where she obtained her education at St. Augustine's School and where she had spent practically all of her life. On March 5, 1901, she was united in marriage to Mr. Adams, the ceremony having been performed at Springfield. For years he was a well known Lebanon business man, operating a local produce market and later conducting a grocery and meat market. At one time he was a member of the City Council.

Following his death in December, six years ago, Mrs. Adams disposed of the home place on West Walnut Street and for the three succeeding years made her home with her son, Osborn Adams, and her daughter, Miss

William Alfred Lamkin

Death claimed William Alfred Lamkin, 84, at his home near Raywick Sunday morning shortly after 5:00 o'clock. He had been ill of complications since the first of January. Prior to that time he was in fairly good health, having frequently visited at Raywick, and attended church services at St. Francis Xavier's Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Lamkin, who was a farmer, was one of the oldest citizens of the Raywick community. His parents were William and Susan Blair Lamkin, and he was born June 19, 1854, in the vicinity where he died. On February 1, 1876, he was married to Miss Susan Ellen McCauley, the ceremony having been performed at St. Francis Xavier's Church by the Rev. P. J. LaCoste, and to the union eleven children were born, six of whom preceded him in death. The venerable couple celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary on February 1, 1936, at which time all of their children and grandchildren were present.

Besides his wife, Mr. Lamkin is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary L. Hall of Depue, Ill., and Mrs. Mary Catherine Norris of Tiskilwa, Ill.; three sons, Clarence Lamkin of Tiskilwa, Ill.; E. S. Lamkin of Raywick and Len Lamkin, who made his home with his father; one sister, Mrs. Rose Benningfield of Louisville; one brother, Sam Lamkin of Raywick; one half-brother, Bernard Lamkin of Raywick and forty-six grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren. Another son, Sid Lamkin, was killed in an automobile accident a short time ago.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. F. X. Laemmle at St. Francis Xavier's Church Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, and burial was in the church cemetery. Six grandsons were pallbearers.

John Samuel Cooper

Funeral services for John Samuel Cooper, 75, who succumbed at his

Reid of Louisville, also s
Funeral services were Holy Cross Catholic.
which he was a membe
morning at 9:00 o'clock.
F. M. Burch. Burial to the church cemetery.

The pallbearers were Newton, Joe Blanford, F.
Will Blanford, Bud Tho
Peake, Howard Blanko
Cambron, Roy Newton,
Roy Thompson and Wall
son.

Mrs. Minnie Goodrum

Victim of a heart ail
Minnie Goodrum, 68
passed away at her home
last Friday morning at 5
The body was brought to Monday morning and at service at the Catholic C at 11:00 o'clock was bu church cemetery by the husband, Joseph C. Good died February 21, 1938 were held at St. Philip in Louisville at 8:00 o'clock.

Prior to her marriage,
rum was a Miss Buckler, Hayden and Lucy Camb
of this county, and bef to Louisville about nine made her home at St. Fra

Surviving her are four
Mrs. Leo Boone of New
W. I. Mahoney and J.

Mahoney of Ohio and Pierick of Louisville;
Sim Goodrum of Illino
Goodrum of Texas and F
rum of Indiana; one brot
Buckler of this county;
Sister Emmanuel of th
Order, Mrs. J. A. Mc
Walter Blanford, Mrs. L
Mrs. Joseph Blanford,
Alice Thompson, the latt
Lebanon, and eighteen gra

Admits Burning

(Continued from first

plement No. 2

LEBANON ENTERPRISE, FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1914

THE BUCKLER SALE

Mr. W. S. Susan Buckler held today of last week was well attended and prices realized were regarded as good. Horses brought from $160 to $200, cows from $40 to $50, $9 per head and pigs 8c per lb. A lot of farming implements, household and kitchen furniture sold at satisfactory prices.

LUNCH-COUNTER CARS.

On a lunch-counter car in service on its last train between Philadelphia and New York, a leading railroad has made an innovation in passenger-train service, which is illustrated and described in a recent issue of Popular Mechanics. It is now being run in Philadelphia and also carry standard dining cars to be conducted on exactly the same lines as a lunch room in a big hotel. The same quickness of service and informality. If the car is as popular as anticipated, the system is to be extended to include all of this system where dining cars are required. The car is 80 feet long and has the exterior appearance as an all-passenger coach, but the interior is very different from that of a dining car. Instead of tables and long mahogany, county over half the length of the car is a dining room for 21 people, and is counter on one side, are mahogany chairs secured to the back of the counter against the row of cupboards for supplies, and for linen and silver occupy under the counter. The kitchen, the latter 11 feet at the end of the car. The car is led by electricity and is ventilated by an electrically operated fan.

ENGINEER'S "ACCIDENT"

A young engineer on the San Antonio and Arkansas City purchased an office. A few days afterward in his yard giving attention to bees which he had recently purchased. One of the bees for some time disclosed, injected his sting into the portion of the engineer's neck which might have warned a man but didn't. The engineer, the injury was so painful that he could not sit down to run and that it was impossible for him to stand and there he was disabled from following his work. He made a claim on an insurance company for disability and a few days the company for a check for the amount.

DEATH OF CHILD.

The 3-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cambren, of Raywick, died Monday of pneumonia. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Raywick Tuesday morning. A large circle of friends extend deepest sympathy to the heart-broken parents in the great loss they have sustained.

WILLIAM LAMKIN.

William Lamkin, aged 80 years, died at his home near Raywick Friday morning of a complication of troubles. He had been in bad health for a number of years. Three sons and one daughter survive. The funeral services were held at Raywick Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. A. C. Zoeller, and the interment was in the Raywick cemetery. In their bereavement the surviving ones have the sympathy of many friends.

MAY SELL ARKANSAS LAND.

J. F. Ewing, a well known farmer of the Bradfordsville section, was here the first of the week enroute to Louisville, where he expects to close a deal with a real-estate firm by which he will dispose of a tract of land in Arkansas. The land was bought by him several years ago at a reasonable price, and in view of the advance in the price of land in that State in the last few years, he expects to net a nice profit on the deal.

MEETS WITH PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Magistrate R. T. McCauley met with what was thought for awhile to be a dangerous accident at his home at Raywick Sunday afternoon. He was in the loft of his barn forking some hay for his stock when a quantity of it pulled out suddenly allowing him to fall backward through an opening to a manger about twelve feet below. His head and back were painfully hurt, while numerous other bruises about the body were sustained. A physician, who was hurriedly summoned, rendered medical attention, and yesterday he was said to be getting along as well as could be expected. The Squire has many friends who, while regretting the unfortunate accident, will be glad to learn that his injuries are not thought to be dangerous.

SENIOR CLASS LAY.

The senior class at the local public school will present Sheridan's "Rivals" at the opera house on Friday evening, April 17. The Rivals was made famous by Joe Jefferson and presents splendid opportunities for amateurs to display their talent. Members of the class are said to be handling their parts well in the rehearsals, and those in position to know, say that the

LUKE McLUBE SAYS:

Marriage and appendicitis are both risky. But you can't fool with appendicitis more than once.

The man who brags that he can shave himself quicker than a barber can do it always looks it.

The High Cost of Living wasn't such a much in the days when The Pilgrim's Progress and Foxe's Book of Martyrs were the Best Sellers.

Every girl believes it is unnatural to look natural when she has her picture taken.

A woman's idea of a neighborly neighbor is one who will come over and borrow a low-necked gauze undershirt when she wants to go to a symphony concert.

The world is growing better. But there are still too many trained goats in vaudeville.

The biggest men in any community are those who make the least noise.

It is funny that when a man lies to his wife the story flows out smoothly and without a break. But when he tries to tell her the truth he stammers and gets all tangled up and inches her suspicion that he is lying.

There are 750,000 words in the Bible. And there are that many men in this country who couldn't repeat one of them.

In other days Mothers used to take Daughter up to her room and spend half a day telling Daughter Things She Should Know About The World. But nowadays when mother attempts to wise Daughter up Daughter asks Mother to tell it to Sweeney.

My idea of a Happy Home is one in which the Baby is a Poodle Dog and in which Mother gets mad if Father wipes Baby's kisses off Mother's lips when Father wants to do a little loving.

When a man offers another man anything free he looks for the string. But when a strange woman smiles at him on the street he imagines she loves him for himself.

When a man can make $50,000 a year he seldom has anything but a fence running around the house. But the man who can't make more than $15 per week seldom has less than six children. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE APPEARANCE OF PROSPERITY.

One of the reasons why advertising has grown so enormously of recent years is that merchants realize that a business to succeed must carry an atmosphere of prosperity.

The man who enters a business office with soiled clothes, and face unshorn, and muddy boots is not apt to get a job. This may be due to superficial judgments, but people have to make the best use they can of exterior indications.

Similarly the public judges of a merchant's success by exterior signs. A business man who does not advertise

A GREAT

Two colored nation to the Col night. Mose climbed up to roosting and w Ephraim, who bag. Sudden "What's da inquired Ephraim, "It's jest t Ephraim, how of de church, take de Cunnel "Brudder Mc am a great me and me ain't down anudder

NOTICE T

We will not r 28 inches long.

G. B. BORDERS

A S

CLUBBI

W

The E

The Ci Weekly

Both One Year For ONLY

Subscri new

What the W

It is issued subscription price of the best home of today. It is the great DAILY, containing the world's news, it carries reliable firm material up-to-date numerous department to every man

This grand advise you to th subscribing for th right now. Call

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. W. spouse, of ... were the guests of ... Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. ... has returned from a ... to her mother, Mrs. ... at ... after a week's ... and relatives in ... has planned to his home to ...

Mrs. John Wathen returned home Monday from a visit to her mother at Madison, Ind. and to relatives in Louisville.

Mr. W. C. Moore, Vice President of the St. Louis Wrought Iron Range Co. was in this city Saturday last on business.

Messrs. Wallace Cardwell and James Montgomery leave Sunday for Tennessee, where they go on a ten days' hunting trip.

Mrs. Cordelia Hill, accompanied by her little grandson, Master C. J. Hill, returned to her home in Covington Wednesday.

Legation, of St. Mary's, and Mrs. Rose DeWitt, of New Hope, were the guests of Mrs. Wm. O'Daniel, the first of the week.

Mrs. Chas. E. Hunter was called to Fairfield yesterday by the sudden illness of her father, who is suffering from heart trouble and not expected to live.

Mr. Ike Dunn and wife, of Danville, spent a few days this week with the families of Mr. Robert Durrett, near New Market, and Mrs. Fanny Hays of this city.

Mr. F. J. Roberts received a letter yesterday from his wife, who is at Morganfield, saying that their daughter, Mrs. Virgie Buckett who has typhoid fever is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Taylor, of Lebanon were here visiting G. B. Taylor and other friends this week. D. N. Shreve, of Lebanon, was visiting his mother here this week. — Greensburg Record.

Mr. Charles Clark and Miss Lena Sweeney, of Fairfield, were the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Chas. L. Hunt, Sunday and Monday. Mr. Clark also visited "friends" at St. Mary's while here.

... world ... and sometimes ... complaint ... food ...

Strengthening, Satisfying, Invigorating.
Prepared only by F. O. Dewitt & Co., Chicago.
The St. bottle contains 2 1/2 times the quantity.

DEATHS.

Infant child of Lloyd Thompson of Loretto, died of membranous croup last Saturday, Nov. 1, 1902. Interment at Chicago Monday.

Mr. James Lamkins, of Raywick, died at his home last Saturday, Nov. 1, 1902, of typhoid fever. He was 36 years of age. Buried at Raywick Sunday. Funeral services at St. Xavier's by Rev. A. J. Zoellner Monday.

Mrs. Steve Glazebrook, of Grave Switch, died at the old home place, Thursday, October 30, 1902 of the infirmities due to old age. Buried at Ryder cemetery last Friday. Services at the grave by Rev. W. W. Stoddart. Deceased was the mother of Mrs. John Funk, Mrs. Jim Stynes and the grandmother of Mrs. W. H. Evans, of this city.

Wards Minstrels.

Harry Ward's Magnificent Minstrels which comes next Wednesday is this season one of the largest minstrel organizations on the road. The company is a very popular one and is composed of artists of reputation and talent. Mr. Ward, by keeping faith with the public, has made for himself a reputation second to none in the amusement world. The company this season number forty and never in the history of minstrelsy has ever there been such an organization of star artists under one management.

... fire ... flames ... at $2500 ...

The origin of the fire is unknown. A colored man had been to the barn to feed the stock, but he neither carried matches nor smoked. The family were all at breakfast when the flames burst forth. By heroic effort Charles Wathen, the son of Col. J. B. Wathen, saved three fine horses which were in the barn. At great peril he saved his children.

Mr. Wathen and his estimable family have the heartfelt sympathy

Ayer's The oldest Malaria and take. A sple
Ague Cure in malarial di of their many friends, in their heavy loss. Col. Wathen desires the ENTERTAINMENT of his friends for the assistance they rendered him and for the many marked expressions of esteem and regard they have uttered in his behalf in this hour of his great trial and heavy loss.

Prof. Timmons' Death.

After a lingering illness, of a complication of troubles aggravated by a serious stomach complaint, Prof. James A. Timmons died at his home in this city, Wednesday morning, Nov. 5, 1902. He passed away without a struggle, resigned, content. His funeral

The ... of ... his ... the ... guide ... their ... al wo ... and ... lead ... the ... a dev ... Cath ... the ... ized ... child ... long ... heart