R. B. Lyle Celebrates His 88th Birthday With Family Dinner

R. B. Lyle, one of the city's best known citizens, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday on Sunday, August 9th, at his home on South Proctor Knott avenue. A fine dinner had been prepared by his daughter, Mrs. S. E. Blackburn, practically every item on the menu having come directly or indirectly from Mr. Lyle's garden, which he keeps in tip-top condition always and which is the envy of many a younger man. It would have been fine to serve for the meal something of everything her father grows, Mrs. Blackburn said, but nine fresh vegetables—which the garden boasts—in addition to numerous other items, would surely have overloaded the table, so only a few could be chosen. A charming feature of the dinner was a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

Ten persons, members of the family and friends, were present for the occasion. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle, J. R. Lyle, Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Ella M. Cleland, Mrs. A. M. J. Cochran, of Maysville, a house guest in the Lyle home; Miss Hattie

R. B. Lyle In Sp On Ninety

R. B. Lyle, Lebanon's oldest citizen, quietly celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary at his home on South Proctor Knott Avenue Sunday with four generations of his family present for a bountiful noon day dinner.

In the afternoon his daughters Mrs. S. E. Blackburn and Miss Evelyn Lyle, kept open house for his friends, and a large number paid calls to congratulate him. Frappe and cake were served and the cake bore ninety-four candles so arranged that
