Dear Donna,

Enclosed herein is information about my Miller and Flanagan lines that were in Marion Co. for several generations. I am starting with the family group sheets for my paternal grandparents, Thomas Henry Miller and Mary Blanche Flanagan, and going back to their ancestral settlers in Marion Co. I have also included some pictures and a Miller family history written by my greatgrandfather, William David Miller, in 1922. My father was Irvin Gilbert Miller born 1913 near Raywick. I hope this will be useful in your forthcoming Marion Co. History Book. Good luck in your project. Let me know if I need to provide additional information.

Sincerely,

Art Miller

Accidental poisoning

Mrs. E.M. Miller, residing four miles west of this city, intending to take a dose of calomel, last Monday night, took by mistake a dose of strychnine. The mistake was soon discovered, and a physician sent for, but the poison remained a considerable time in the stomach. The strychnine was taken in some jelly, and to this circumstance and the fact that the drug was of bad quality, Mr. Miller probably owes his life.

Death of a centenarian

"Aunt Sooky Spalding" died near this place on Saturday last at a very advanced age. It is claimed that she was 111 years old, but this statement is not consistent with the statement that she was born in 1767, in which case Washington was first inaugurated president.

The Miller Family

I have been requested to give a short brief history of the Miller family. When I say the Miller family I mean the late David Miller who lived and died on the road leading to the Horse Shoe Bend in Marion County, Kentucky, but I am asked to go back and include in this history and tell what I know of the Miller family of old, that is, David Miller's father and mother and their family. This carries one back a long ways and the more I think of the task now before me the greater the task seems but perhaps it may interest some one to read it.

I cannot give exact dates. About the year Seventeen hundred and fifty-Six or fifty-Eight a vessel of some kind came across the ocean and landed at New York or near there. On this vessel was a family by the name of Miller. Belonging to this Miller family was a boy whose name was David and at that time young David was about Sixteen years old. On this same vessel was a family by the name of Rook. In the Rook family was a young girl whose given name was Debora. This Miller family and Rook family located somewhere in the East--I think New York State or Pennsylvania.

Now when young David Miller and Miss Debora Rook grew to manhood and womanhood they got married and left the East and went to the far west. At that time the far west was in Kentucky. So young David Miller and his bride located in what is now Nelson County, Kentucky; but they only remained in Nelson County two years. They then moved to what is now Marion County, Kentucky; but at that time it was a part of Washington County, Kentucky. David Miller and his wife bought a parcel of land near and just east of where Mrs. Cora Peterson now lives and built a hewed log house. One large room, one small room, and one open and wide fireplace in the large room, large stone chimney at end of house. In that log house this couple: David Miller and his wife Debora, raised a family of twelve children.

When grown they all left Kentucky except two. Some went to Texas, some to Missouri, and some to Indiana. Of those who moved away the writer knows very little, except to say about forty years ago² the writer visited one John Miller who was living near Sherman, Texas. Had raised a large family there. All of them at that time were married and seemed to be doing well so far as the goods of this world is concerned. Of the two that remained in Kentucky one was a girl. She got married to one Pollard Abell who was the father of the late Peter Abell.

1. Deceased in 1954.

2. Around 1882.

It will be remembered by many that Peter Abell got drowned in the Rolling Fork River some thirty-five or forty years ago, near what is now known as the Theodore Spalding bridge.³ Peter Abell raised a large family of children. Some of them I will speak of later on.

The other one that remained in Kentucky was David Miller, the one spoken of in the beginning of this sketch. David Miller, Jr., son of David Miller, Sr., was born in the year Seventeen hundred and ninety-nine, he being the youngest child of the twelve raised by the senior David Miller and his wife Debora. He was raised and grown up to manhood in the log house spoken of above. Time has caused the old house to decay and fall. Nothing remains on that sacred spot to show that a house ever stood there except the pile of stone which was once the massive stone chimney.

The writer has in the long ago been in the old log house lots of times. The ground on which stood the old log house now belongs to Mrs. Cora Peterson.

The late David Miller was married at the age of twenty-four or twenty-five to Elmira Thomas who was sixteen. To this union was born fourteen children: seven boys and seven girls. Two of the boys: one, David, one Wm. Brown, died when young. One girl, Martha Ellen, died at the age of nine or ten years old. These all died before the writer was born. One boy, Lafayette died at the age of twenty-one or twenty-two. My best recollection Lafayette died about the year Eighteen fifty-eight. The other ten children all lived to rather old age, but all of the ten are gone except two: the writer and Henry F. Miller. The writer now lives in Tennessee, and Henry F. is in Louisville, Kentucky. Out of the family of sixteen counting parents only two remain and we like the rest will soon follow. Sad but true. The late J. M. Miller⁴ was the oldest child. Mariah, wife of John C. Russell was second; then comes, I think, Isabelle, wife of the late⁵ Sylvester Abell. Lucinda, wife of the late Robert Burdett,⁵ mother of the Burdette brothers now living in Marion County. John M. Miller who lived and died in state of Kansas. Artie, wife of Ike Chadoin, who lived and died in Texas. Harriet, wife of Robert Fulks. And Mary who passed away some three years ago,⁶ and the writer, Wm. D. Miller, now in Tennessee, and H. F. Miller, now in Louisville, Kentucky.

3. Now the bridge crossing the Rolling Fork River at the termination of the McElroy pike, just west of St. Joseph, near the property of Ray Burdette. Peter Abell died around 1885.

4. Died 1899.

I will speak of an incident that happened to my Grandma while she and my Grandfather was still living at the old log house above referred to. Their twelve children were all gone and the old people were living alone. I think my Grandma at this time was Eighty-five or Ninety years old. At this time I speak of, Grandfather was very old and feeble. Grandma went out to milk her cow and in some way the cow knocked her down and broke her hip. Grandfather at this time was unable to render her any assistance and my Father lived about one quarter of a mile's distance. Grandfather managed in some way to hobble to my Father's and let it be known that Grandma was badly hurt when assistance was immediately rendered. Now this happened at night and at that time the nearest physician lived at Springfield, a distance of eighteen miles so they waited until the next morning and started a man on horse back to Springfield after the doctor. Of course it took all day to go and come but the doctor reached there late in the evening. So the poor old woman laid there with a broken or misplaced hip twenty-four hours without any medical assistance. But to the great surprise of all she got well and was able to ride horseback and it was said she even run a horse race after she got well. She was a very wonderful woman, full of life, full of energy, If all her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren could be seen together, and I will include her great-great-grandchildren, could be seen together, it would be a multitude. My grandmother Debora is the great-great-grand mother of both Willard Cowherd and wife, also the great-great-grandmother of Henry Collins and wife. Also the great-great-grandmother of Nat Tandy's wife. It will be remembered the wife of Henry Collins is the granddaughter of the late J. M. Miller. After my Grandmother got crippled my father moved the old people to his house to take care of them in their old age, where they died.

Grandfather died in the year 1848 at the age of 104. He died of old age. I have heard my mother say that Grandfather was laying on the bed, had not been sick, but made this remark: "The Lord has called and I must go." and passed away without a struggle. My Grandmother lived some time after the death of my Grandfather and died at the age of 102. So ended the life of the two old people. Both came from Germany when children. They understood the German language and talked it fluently up until their death; so I was told by my Mother and Father.

I could write for a week, but space forbids, but I desire to call attention to an old family relick; it is what is called a corner cupboard or corner press. It was made to fit the corner of a room at the time my Father moved the old people to his house, he moved, of course, what belongings the old couple had, and they owned this cupboard or press. Now that was before I was born. I was born in the year 1848, the same year my Grandfather died. My Father has told me this old corner cupboard was made during the two years that my grandparents lived in Nelson County. It is hand-made, no machine work. I think it was put together with wood pegs instead of iron screws. It has four doors, two below and two above; two shelves below and three above. This piece of furniture has been in constant use for not less than One hundred and fifty years. (150 years)

Now, reader, if any one of us owned all the good victuals that have passed through this cupboard we would not be hunting up any kind of tobacco association in order to get a good price for our tobacco. The truth is, we would not grow any more tobacco. We would have plenty to retire on. When I left my old Kentucky home I let my two nieces, the two Burdett sisters now living in Raywick, Kentucky,⁷ have the old relick. My object in giving it to them was I wanted it to be perpetuated in the Miller family. They own this cupboard now and any one who looks at this old cupboard may fully realize that he is looking at a piece of furniture that has been in use at least 150 years.

I will state here my Father died at the age of 73 or 74. My Mother died at the age of 84. She died in September, 1891. Had been a widow Eighteen years. Both passed away at the old home now on the farm of John Clarkson.

PART OF THE ORIGINAL IS MISSING HERE.

Reader, this is written just like I was talking to you, nothing copied. I hope this will be read and enjoyed by some of my Kentucky friends, especially my relatives.

FORM I

THE MILLER FAMILY

I have been requested to give a short brief history of the Miller family. When I say the Miller family I mean the late David Miller who lived and died on the road leading to the Horse Shoe Bend in Marion County, Kentucky, but I am asked to go back and include in this history and tell what I know of the Miller family of old, that is, David Miller's father and mother and their family. This carries one back a long ways and the more I think of the task now before me the greater the task seems but perhaps it may interest some one to read it.

I cannot give exact dates. About the year Seventeen hundred and fifty-Six or fifty-Eight a vessel of some kind came across the ocean and landed at New York or near there. On this vessel was a family by the name of Miller. Belonging to this Miller family was a boy whose name was David and at that time young David was about Sixteen years old. On this same vessel was a family by the name of Rook. In the Rook family was a young girl whose given name was Debora. This Miller family and Rook family located somewhere in the East--I think New York State or Pennsylvania.

Now when young David Miller and Miss Debora Rook grew to manhood and womanhood they got married and left the East and went to the far west. At that time the far west was in Kentucky. So young David Miller and his bride located in what is now Nelson County, Kentucky; but they only remained in Nelson County two years. They then moved to what is now Marion County, Kentucky; but at that time it was a part of Washington County, Kentucky. David Miller and his wife bought a parcel of land near and just east of where Mrs. Cora Peterson¹ now lives and built a hewed log house. One large room, one small room, and one open and wide fireplace in the large room, large stone chimney at end of house. In that log house this couple: David Miller and his wife Debora, raised a family of twelve children.

When grown they all left Kentucky except two. Some went to Texas, some to Missouri, and some to Indiana. Of those who moved away the writer knows very little, except to say about forty years ago [c. 1881] the writer visited one John Miller who was living near Sherman, Texas. Had raised a large family there. All of them at that time were married and seemed to be doing well so far as the goods of this world is concerned. Of the two that remained in Kentucky one was a girl. She got married to one Pollard Abell who was the father of the late Peter Abell. It will be remembered by many that Peter Abell got drowned in the Rolling Fork River some thirty-five or forty years ago, near what is now known as the Theodore Spalding bridge.² Peter Abell raised a large family of children. Some of them I will speak of later on.

The other one that remained in Kentucky was David Miller, the one spoken of in the beginning of this sketch. David Miller, Jr., son of David Miller, Sr., was born in the year Seventeen hundred and ninety-nine, he being the youngest child of the twelve raised by the senior David Miller and his wife Debora. He was raised and grown up to manhood in the log house spoken of above. Time has caused the old house to decay and fall. Nothing remains on that sacred spot to show that a house ever stood there except the pile of stone which was once the massive stone chimney.

The writer has in the long ago been in the old log house lots of times. The ground on which stood the old log house now belongs to Mrs. Cora Peterson.

The late David Miller was married at the age of twenty-four or twenty-five to Elmira Thomas who was sixteen. To this union was born fourteen children: seven boys and seven girls. Two of the boys: one, David, one Wm. Brown, died when young. One girl, Martha Ellen, died at the age of nine or ten years old. These all died before the writer was born. One boy, Lafayette died at the age of twenty-one or twenty-two. My best recollection Lafayette died about the year Eighteen fifty-eight. The other ten children all lived to rather old age, but all of the ten are gone except two: the writer and Henry F. Miller. The writer now lives in Tennessee, and Henry F. is in Louisville, Kentucky. Out of the family of sixteen counting parents only two remain and we like the rest will soon follow. Sad but true. The late J. M. Miller³ was the oldest child. Mariah, wife of John C. Russell was second; then comes, I think, Isabelle, wife of the late Sylvester Abell. Lucinda, wife of the late Robert Burdett,⁴ mother of the Burdette brothers now living in Marion County. John M. Miller who lived and died in state of Kansas. Artie, wife of Ike Chadoin, who lived and died in Texas. Harriet, wife of Robert Fulks. And Mary who passed away some three years ago [c. 1919], and the writer, Wm. D. Miller, now in Tennessee, and H. F. Miller, now in Louisville, Kentucky.

I will speak of an incident that happened to my Grandma while she and my Grandfather was still living at the old log house above referred to. Their twelve children were all gone and the old people were living alone. I think my Grandma at this time was Eighty-five or Ninety years old. At this time I speak of, Grandfather was very old and feeble. Grandma went down to milk her cow and in some way the cow knocked her down and broke her hip. Grandfather at this time was unable to render her any assistance and my Father lived about one quarter of a mile's distance. Grandfather managed in some way to hobble to my Father's and let it be known that Grandma was badly hurt when assistance was immediately rendered. Now this happened at night and at that time the nearest physician lived at Springfield, a distance of eighteen miles so they waited until the next morning and started a man on horse back to Springfield after the doctor. Of course it took all day to go and come but the doctor reached there late in the evening. So the poor old woman laid there with a broken or misplaced hip twenty-four hours without any medical assistance. But to the great surprise of all she got well and was able to ride horseback and it was said she even run a horse race after she got well. She was a very wonderful woman, full of life, full of energy, If all her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren could be seen together, and I will include her great-great-grandchildren, could be seen together, it would be a multitude. My grandmother Depora is the great-great-grandmother of both Willard Cowherd and wife, also the great-great-grandmother of Henry Collins and wife. Also the great-great-grandmother of Nat Tandy's wife. It will be remembered the wife of Henry Collins is the granddaughter of the late J. M. Miller. After my Grandmother got crippled my father moved the old people to his house to take care of them in their old age, where they died.

Grandfather died in the year 1848 at the age of 104. He died of old age. I have heard my mother say that Grandfather was laying on the bed, had not been sick, but made this remark: "The Lord has called and I must go." and passed away without a struggle. My Grandmother lived some

I could write for a week, but space forbids, but I desire to call attention to an old family relick; it is what is called a corner cupboard or corner press. It was made to fit the corner of a room at the time my Father moved the old people to his house, he moved, of course, what belongings the old couple had, and they owned this cupboard or press. Now that was before I was born. I was born in the year 1843, the same year my Grandfather died. My Father has told me this old corner cupboard was made during the two years that my grandparents lived in Nelson County. It is hand-made, no machine work. I think it was put together with wood pegs instead of iron screws. It has four doors, two below and two above; two shelves below and three above. This piece of furniture has been in constant use for not less than One hundred and fifty years. (150 yr.)

Now, reader, if any one of us owned all the good victuals that have passed through this cupboard we would not be hunting up any kind of tobacco association in order to get a good price for our tobacco. The truth is, we would not grow any more tobacco. We would have plenty to retire on., When I left my old Kentucky home I let my two nieces, the two Burdett sisters now living in Raywick, Kentucky⁵ have the old relick. My object in giving it to them was I wanted it to be perpetuated in the Miller family. They own this cupboard now and any one who looks at this old cupboard may fully realize that he is looking at a piece of furniture that has been in use at least 150 years.

I will state here my Father died at the age of 73 or 74. My Mother died at the age of 84. She died in September, 1891. Had been a widow Eighteen years. Both passed away at the old home now on the farm of John Clarkson.

[A portion of the original manuscript is missing here.]

Knott gets majority
Ebenzer Knott carried every precinct in Marion County at the Congressional election on the 5th inst. Loretto gave the largest majority Bradford, second, and Raywick, third.

Calls attention to road

(From the Loretto correspondent)

As soon as the Standard of last week came out with the item calling attention to the Livers Spring Road, they went right to work on it and will soon have it in good order. So much for the good the Standard does down here. Mr. J. A. Alvey is putting the Holy Cross and Chicago Road in good order, and Mr. Richard Smith proposed to work the Loretto and Bank's Mill Road this week. So you see we are waking up the road questions.

Buys 66 acres for $525

Harrison Miller of LaRue, son-in-law of Mr. S. B. Gardner, has bought the farm left by J. P. Higdon, consisting of 66 acres, for $525. Dr. Wright has bought the Felix Murphy mill house, three stories high, for $12. This is as good a bargain as Mr. Dan's corn. He proposes to move it on his farm and make a barn of it. Mr. J. L. Rawlings sold to Jack Guthrie 40 acres of land adjoining H. C. Williams, at $30 per acre.

Run away horse

A horse ran away with a buggy in which Mrs. T. B. Hamilton was riding, some four or five miles north of town yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hamilton was thrown out and severely hurt, one of her arms being broken.

Personal pointers

L. D. Massengale, Esq., left last Wednesday for a visit to Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haven arrived at home the supreme sacrifice overseas. The others were Sandasky Lynch, killed in World War I; Hamilton, killed in an airplane accident; and Daniel Hays, who died of pneumonia in a military hospital.

Obituaries

John Spalding, 74-year-old retired farmer, died Sunday at his home on the Springfield Highway. Dr. F. E. Blanton, 38, a physician at St. Mary, died unexpectedly while staying at his home. Four additional victims of influenza are George Edward Miller, of his home near Loretto; Mrs. J. M. Miller, 82, wife of James Miller; Miss Mary Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Carico; Raywick, who lost a young son by the same ailment last week; and Miss Gertrude Reynolds, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds of the Stewart's Creek community.

Inexpensive education
Pupils who attended Lebanon City Schools during the next fiscal year were instructed at a cost of 22 cents per school day each, according to calculations made from the annual report of W. W. Rubel, secretary-treasurer of the City Board of Education. Total expenditures of the school system exclusive of debt service was $26,729.34 on $39,000 for each child in attendance.

Athletes injured

Sam Spalding, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Spalding, while at football practice at the University of Kentucky last week, fractured his left arm above the wrist. Charles Carico of Lebanon High School football star, who suffered injuries to his left face some time ago and who since has been at St. Joseph Infirmary, Louisville, returned home

Lebanon City Star

The Lebanon Baptist Church has a new pastor. He is the Rev. Herman Rowden, a 50-year-old native of Bardonia, Ky., who has been pastor at Twenty-third & Broadway Baptist Church in Louisville.

Mr. Rowden replaces the Rev. A. B. Colvin, who resigned the pastorate here last June and accepted the post of state superintendent of missions and evangelism of the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky.

Final plans stated

Final plans for construction of a centrally located Marion County high school are being prepared by a Louisville architectural and engineering firm. A rough outline of the building came Wednesday from county school superintendent Hugh C. Spaulding after a meeting of the Marion County Board of Education.

Named assistant

John Layton, Lexington, arrived here last week to take over the duties of assistant Marion County farm agent. His appointment to the post was announced by Farm Agent G. H. Kaines. The new date succeeds Frank Brown, Jr., who left here in July to become acting farm agent in Kenton County.

Isaacs buys farm

Billy Isaacs, Star Route, Lebanon, purchased for $55,400 the 97-acre farm of Ernest Collins when the property was offered at public auction yesterday morning. The property is located about a mile from Lebanon on State Highway 84 and 49. The 132-acre farm of the late Joseph Collins was sold at public auction Wednesday morning for $23,300 to Rufus Jones, who owns an adjoining

Miles Chapel CME is 142 years old

This is the 218th straight week in which the Farmers National Bank has provided this public service by writing about good and worthwhile local events, people and services in this space. President Eugene Spragens calls the effort "one of the best things we have ever done because I get a large number of comments on a regular basis."

We try to talk about a broad range of topics and over the years have written about a number of our churches. This week we want to congratulate the Miles Chapel CME Church which celebrated its 142nd anniversary in June.

This unique church has served Lebanon exceedingly well over this long period of time in its white-framed building at the corner of Main Street and Woodlawn Avenue. But the thing which makes it so unique today is that the membership is down to two now. William "Buster" Mattingly and Clarence Bell are the church trustees who attend there faithfully on the first, third and fifth Sundays of each month.

The Reverend Robert Savage, who lives in Louisville, serves as pastor and while Bell and Mattingly are the only members now, others attend from time to time and when Bell's sister in Louisville comes home to visit she brings her entire family to swell the attendance.

The church once had large, enthusiastic crowds and a parsonage at the rear of the church for the resident pastor. But Bell and Mattingly say that as the older members died they were not replaced by younger people who chose to go to other churches. Now they are down to two.

We wish for them new members in the days ahead so this church which has served Lebanon so well for 142 years will survive.

I am looking for someone that might be researching Jacob MILLER---the one b. 3/15/1764 in Pa., m. Elizabeth Masterson, d.1846, lived in Gleanings, Nelson Co., Ky. There is a strong linkage between Jacob and my line---David MILLER (not Jacob's son).

David came from Germany abt 1756/8 and landed in "New York or nearby" as a 16 yr. old with his parents. On same boat was Debora Zook (could be Rook). The families lived in New York and/or Pa. David and Debora married and migrated to Nelson Co., Ky. by 1797. After a couple years they moved on to Raywick area in Washington Co. (now Marion Co.) where they raised their 12 children---all but 2 subsequently left Ky. for either Mo., In, or Tx. I have not been able to find David in Pa or New York. Was hoping that someone researching Jacob might have some clues on David. Jacob seems to have come through Washington Co., Pa. to Ky. by 1785. I have LDS info on Jacob's family which shows that they came from Bavaria, Germany.

Dear Bill:

I was unable to find a listing for JOHN LUTHER MILLER in the "Report of the Adjutant General of the State of Kentucky: Civil War - Confederate" vol. 1 and 2. I found J.L. MILLER on several pages; however both entries were enlisted at Camp Boone, TN in Co I, Third Regiment with one entry having: Company I, Third Regiment temporarily attached to Company D by order of Brigadier General William Preston ; and the other entry : Company I, Third Regiment Infantry (Mounted), Kentucky Volunteers, Confederate States Army. I found two listings for JAMES MILLER (neither enlisted in Lebanon, KY): One enlisted at Beaver, Ky. in Company I, Fifth Regiment Infantry, Kentucky Volunteers and the other enlisted in Mulberry, TN in Company E, Ninth Regiment Infantry, Kentucky Volunteers.

I ask a local Civil War historian if he knew the Regiments that took enlistments in Lebanon, KY and he said most recruiting was done in Washington County (Springfield, KY), however for a short period of time two units were operating out of Lebanon. From Sept. 7, 1862 to Oct. 5, 1862, W.W. Cleaver's unit and a Colonel Scott's unit were at Lebanon. I have enclosed copies of Cleaver's regiment; however there were so many entries under the Surname Scott, without knowing what his first name was I did not know which entry was the right one.

I am sorry I could not find more information. I hope this will be helpful to you.

Sincerely,

Mary Parrott

To Marion Co. Public Library -

I am currently at work on my family genealogy. My search concludes that my 3rd great-grandfather James I. Miller and my 4th great-grandfather Edward Evans were early settlers to the area around Lebanon, Kentucky. Somewhere around the late 18th century they moved to this area from Virginia and Pennsylvania. Do you have a copy of:

W.T. Knott's

History of Marion County Kentucky
pub. (1952)?

or anything else by this author?

also I am interested in -

M. F. Hetherington
Lebanon & Marion Co.

Lebanon, Ky

pub. (1905)

P.S. Who was W.T. Knott?

Any help in finding copies (if still existing) of these books would be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Keith McWilliams
